This week our focus has been on fire safety and I believe the firemen visit for Session 2 has been the highlight. The children were excited to sit in the fire truck, squirt the fire hose and hear the emergency siren. They then watched the firemen put on his protective fire gear. Some children commented that his protective clothes made him look a bit scary, but they soon learnt that firemen are safe people who will protect us in a fire emergency. The children were taught how to “stop, drop, cover and roll” if there is fire on their clothes and were taught to “get down low and go, go, go” to the nearest exit, if the room is full of fire and smoke. Session one will be visited by the firemen this Tuesday. Unfortunately they had an emergency they needed to attend last Tuesday when they were booked to come. We will continue to talk fire safety well into the coming week, but after this week you may start to hear conversations about fire safety at home, please encourage your children to discuss this important concept.
